PIANOLOGUES AND DIALECT TALES HOLD INTEREST

Margaret Riner Minor In Excellent Program; Club Plans for Benefit

A bit of old Ireland, of Italy and other European tongues in the dialect reading and pianologues given at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club at Masonic temple yesterday afternoon by Margaret Riner Minor proved to be a program of real entertainment enjoyed by the large number of members present at that time. She is one of the Riner Sisters' duo and has appeared with much success before both the Lyceum and Chautauqua audiences.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president, announced the date of June 9 as the time at which a benefit matinee would be given at the Glendale Theatre for the purpose of securing funds for placing the name of Mrs. Cora Taylor, founder and first president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and who is now deceased, upon the honor roll of the state federation. At the matinee, a motion picture will be shown of the historical pageant of California which was produced at the state convention at Yosemite last year.

Announcement was made of club petitions now being circulated to secure consent of the club members to mortgage the property at Lexington and Central in order to secure money to begin the erection of the clubhouse. Mrs. E. A. Bode, Mrs. D. Brant, Mrs. C. G. Farrow, Mrs. E. Schuyler, Mrs. W. Farlander, Mrs. H. C. Vandewater, and others, will have charge of securing the signatures of members.

Annual Reciprocity Day

Mrs. A. M. Williams, chairman of ways and means, asked that the pledge cards be returned at once, this method of raising money having been decided on in lieu of a society circus. Already over sixteen and two-thirds per cent of the members have responded, she stated, with pledges amounting to over $400. The final report on the amounts pledged is to be made to the club on June 3.

Mrs. Hutchinson stated that the annual reciprocity day will be observed by the club at next meeting, May 23, at which time the

CHICAGO CONDUCTS HUGE DRIVE AGAINST GUNMEN

CHICAGO, May 17.—Terrorists who made good their threat to use the torch in the war of certain building trades unions against the Landis wage award were being sought today by the police and every law enforcement agency in Chicago. One of the most gigantic drives against gunmen, bombers, incendiarists and thugs in the history of the city was under way. This drive followed the burning last night of a $500,000 building, in the course of construction under the terms of the Landis wage award. The fire was set after warnings had been given other residents of the neighborhood that the building would be burned. The Landis award was cursed openly by those who gave the warnings. Damage to the building, which was being erected in Sheridan road, Chicago's most exclusive residential section, is estimated at from $100,000 to $250,000. As officials went into conference to discuss details of the campaign to stamp out terrorism and punish those responsible, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe charged that the fire and recent murders and bombings attributed to the labor war was the work of leaders of the Chicago building council, who sought to bring about a general strike here. Crowe declared that the building trades council was disintegrating because of dissatisfaction of many unions with the conduct of its officials. He declared that these officials were seeking by "terrorism to regain command of the graft that once characterized Chicago building construction and for which many labor grafters are now under indictment."

COUNTY QUESTIONS ARE DISCUSSED BY OFFICIAL

Supervisor Henry W. Wright Is Speaker at Meeting of S. F. Association

Supervisor Henry W. Wright of South Pasadena was the speaker last night at 1428 South San Fernando road before members and friends of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association.

Problems of county administration were discussed briefly by him. He commented concisely upon various county institutions and reported that there are now 1200 patients in the county hospital, 1000 residents at the county farm at Downey and over 500 in the county jail which he admitted had only been built to accommodate 210 prisoners and was a "disgrace to society." Mr. Wright said that the county desired to enlarge Olive View sanitarium so that it might take care of a hundred or two of children in the first stages of tuberculosis.

The request for the bridge across the Los Angeles river at Park avenue, which would connect Glendale and Griffith park, will be given careful consideration by Mr. Wright. He expressed a hope that the expense might be met by joint co-operation by Glendale, Los Angeles and the county. He said that the county would feel more disposed to take the action when it had been assured that the street on either side of the bridge would be properly improved.

City Officials Attend.

A number of Glendale city officials were present at the meeting, which was in the nature of a social evening. Mayor Spencer Robinson sang and a short talk was given by City Manager W. H. Reeves.

Dorothy Welcome of 821 Mariposa street, played several violin selections which were much applauded. She was accompanied by Miss Natalie Yeo of 334 El Bonito avenue, who also accompanied Mayor Robinson.

Don Cameron of Los Angeles accompanied himself upon the ukulele in several humorous ditties, including "Cohan Owes Me Ninety-seven Dollars."

A bounteous 11 o'clock lunch was served a la cafateria style at the close of the program. This consisted of various kinds of sandwiches, home-made cake and doughnuts and coffee.

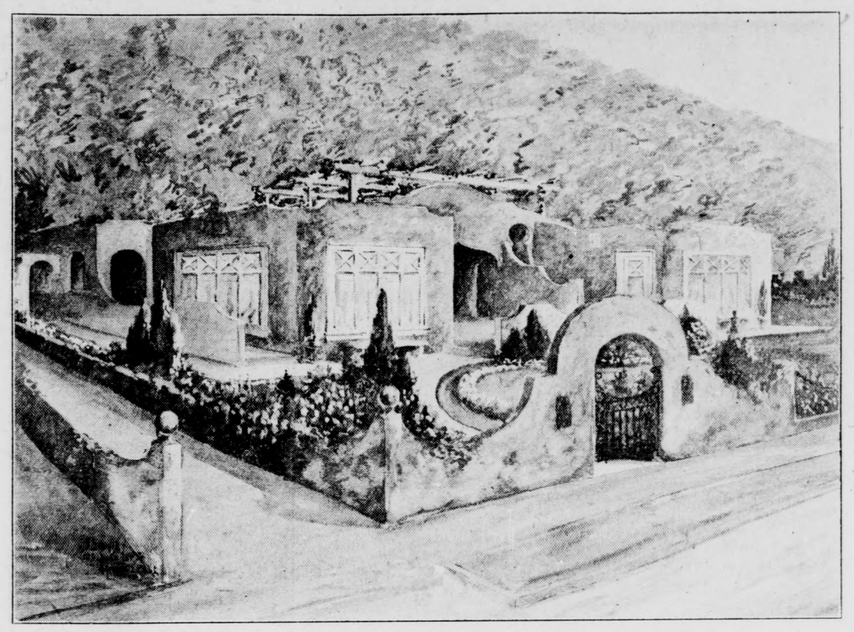
Moorish Castle In Miniature, Like Those Of Picture Books, Set In Attractive Spot On Glendale's Hills



Perspective of W. E. Pelley's new house in Sierra avenue, Sycamore Canyon, as seen by J. S. Schultz, the artist responsible for the unusual interior decorations.

Something Different, Even Secret Garden, Is Being Artistically Made

By GIL A. COWAN

THREE thousand miles and more away lays Mauretania where you will find the castles of the Moors, who live under the protectorate of France. They are a dark-skinned people, descendants of the dusky North Africans and the pirates of the Mediterranean.

Usually you will hear of them battling with the Spaniards, but today it is a story of the distinctive architecture which marks their country, or rather makes their few cities interesting to the tourist. Yes, a Moorish castle in miniature is to be found in Glendale, but you would never find it unless told where to go.

Drive out the Verdugo Road to Sycamore canyon, just north of Wilson avenue. Take the dusty, winding road into the hills until you come to Sierra avenue which leads into Scholl canyon. Then watch for the new house on the right hand side of the street and there stop.

To Build Novel Houses

It is the conception of something different on the part of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pelley, formerly engaged in business in Brand boulevard who have turned to building. Sycamore canyon, to them, means the most beautiful spot in the world and it is their intention to build nine more novel houses along similar lines.

So, you can see, this is an exhibition job—one in which the artisans, besides Mr. Pelley, have given of their very best to make the canyon homes the highest class of country estates. Much development now is going on and some day it will be provided with a seventy-foot boulevard leading to Flintridge.

One glance and you know that this six-room home is unusual, but not out of keeping with the steep, surrounding hills. It has the appearance of a Moorish castle you see in picture books. The broad expanse of the front view is marked by a patio with an outside stone staircase and keyhole entrance to the roof pergola which will be thatched with palm leaves and all around the parapet flowers will bloom.

Secret Garden, Too

Potted palms and other tropical trees will set off the front of house while there will be the old-fashioned garden as well as the

CONSIDER REALTY SALE

The joint board of the Presbyterian church will meet for an executive session following the prayer meeting tomorrow night to discuss the sale of the church property.

"I can't say that we have entered negotiations," stated Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor, this morning. "But several different organizations have made offers to purchase the property."

Hello! Bees Get Number; Yep, That Of Phone Girls

SOMETHING sweet must be found around the telephone office.

A swarm of bees settled yesterday in the tree at the rear of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company's building on Brand boulevard and kept dodging in and out the fire escape door from the operating room where the hello girls are found.

Manager Fred Deal tacked up a sign "No Visitors Allowed" but that didn't keep the little stingers out, so he called for Oscar Wright, a mail carrier at the Glendale postoffice.

After sunset last evening Mr. Wright gently shook the bees into a box and transported them to his honey ranch in Tujunga, where they had better stay for the continuation of good health.

There Are Surprises, Several Kinds, For Those Looking For Atmosphere in Canyon

ATMOSPHERE? Southern California is noted for that.

But out in the Sycamore canyon where Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pelley reside on Sierra avenue, they provide it for visitors in a most realistic manner at their "Moorish castle."

The first thing that strikes one's eyes is the Pekinese dogs which are too cute for anything. No muzzle was ever made to fit those chinless pups and their mother. So, they are kept close at home.

And, if one should happen to visit the cabin on the hillside where Billy Justema has his art studio, another surprise might be given the visitor.

Lithe little Julia Pelley, noted child dancer, known about home as "Ju Ju," would likely be seen emerging from the grove of live oaks in her Indian costume, barefooted and bedecked with feathers and a buckskin bodice, half concealing, half revealing the graceful, girlish figure, a picture of native shyness in a natural setting such as you would dream of Minnehaha in Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

SOUTH TO BECOME MUSICAL CENTER OF AMERICA?

Mrs. Mattison Jones Makes Prediction at Banquet of Federated Brotherhod

Southern California may become the musical center of America?

This was the prediction of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club last night in the First Methodist church at the banquet of the Federated Brotherhood.

"I firmly believe that the next few years will see California as the musical center of America," remarked Mrs. Jones, commenting on the fact that many talented professional musicians are making their homes here for the inspiration afforded by the ocean, the desert and the mountains. She asserted that every church and civic organization should cooperate to establish better ideals of music and assist in this pilgrimage.

"We realize the benefits to be derived from the right kind of music and today are trying to link harmony with life," she said. "Too much can't be said against this terrible wave of jazz which has been sweeping the country since the war. However, I think that jazz is dying out in many places.

Women Should Aid

"I think it is a wonderful thing when the men of our community will come together in an assembly of this kind and say that they are brothers. I am sure that all the women of Glendale are in hearty accord with this organization. The men have always taken the lead in civic affairs. Personally, I think it is the place of the women to stand behind the men and see that they promote the right measures. It is up to the womanhood of Glendale to stand behind this organization."

Rev. Edgar Fay Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church of Los Angeles, spoke on the theme, "Co-operate or Collapse."

"The most important word of the present generation is co-operation," he declared. "Increasingly, we are going to teach ourselves the value and beauty of co-operation. The best lesson the home can teach today is the beautiful lesson of co-operation. The greatest lesson that any of us can

George Loren Patrick of Eagle Rock was the driver of the other machine.

Alexander Thibaudian, a Newhall rancher, reported he was blinded by lights about 10 o'clock last night and in the mixup of the continuous motorcade was struck by Warren West of 1815 South Brand boulevard. Seven Chiropractors Get Jail Sentences

A. C. Foy, of Anaheim, and Philip Dudley, of Orange, chiropractors, recently convicted upon technical charges of violation of the medical practice act, are now serving 100 days in the county jail at Santa Ana. There are five other chiropractic practitioners in jail at the present time, three at Stockton, one at Red Bluff and one at Visalia.

The election of jail sentences by these chiropractors, it is asserted, is in protest to the medical practice act, administered by the Board of Medical Examiners, and, further, if fines were paid three-fourths of the fines, according to the medical law, would be credited to the board's contingent fund and used to prosecute other members of the chiropractic profession, it is declared.

The fact that seven chiropractors are in jail at this time is regarded highly significant in chiropractic circles, because of the pending initiative bill, No. 16 on the ballot, which, if enacted by the people at the November election, will create a Board of Chiropractic Examiners and regulate the practice of chiropractic.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

learn out in the larger school of life is the lesson of co-operation."

Rev. Daugherty said that there had only been one perfectly rational human being, Jesus Christ, and that all others had been unbalanced to a greater or less degree. He said that the individual degree of insanity depended on the degree to which a person was able to co-operate.

The theory of co-operation ultimately will supplant the principle of competition, according to Rev. Daugherty. He stated his opinion that the world would eventually see a league of nations in operation. He reminded his audience that as the establishment of United States was accomplished, so also the organization of a world state was a possibility in the future.

Visitors Are Welcomed

Welcome was extended to the women present by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who touched briefly on the desire for fellowship and mutual helpfulness which inspired the foundation of the brotherhood.

Two vocal selections were sung by a quartet from the Central Christian church consisting of Harry Marple of 1539 Glenwood road; Forest Cole, 1220 Justin street; Guy and Gordon Mize, 412 East Harvard street. They were accompanied by Mrs. M. Z. Musser of 600 West Colorado street. They were much applauded.

Reminder of the coming Chautauqua was made by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church. He said that it was expected to be the best one which has ever come to Glendale.

Rev. Harley G. Preston, pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church commented briefly on the Sunday school convention to be held tomorrow and Friday at the First Methodist church. He said there was a likelihood of the assembly being addressed Thursday night by Gov. W. D. Stephens.

James H. Garnsey of 438 Vine street served as toastmaster. He is president of the Federated Brotherhood.

Unique 'Castle' in Hills of Glendale

secret garden effect to the right. An art door to the right of the entrance opens into a cave for umbrellas and such. On the opposite side is a nook for a potted wild fern.

J. S. Schultz of 109 South Cedar street, Glendale, is the artist who has made the perspective of the completed castle as well as doing all of the interior decorating. He was formerly a designer for Tiffany & company, coming here from Akron, Ohio. His handiwork with the brush bespeaks the reputation he builded for himself in the east.

The entrance hall, like the banquet hall behind it, is decorated with the garden wall effects—every side a scene of mural beauty that compares favorably with a Maxfield Parrish painting. There is the little lounging nook with a lake as a background, a really remarkable picture. Columns could be written about the Tiffany plaster put on by Jesse Stine, a local contractor, as it has been colored by Mr. Schultz.

Something of Mystery

To the left is the parlor which is the last word in stencil work of seven colors, all done by the artist, with the Moorish lettering adding a bit of mystery to its maze of design. Therein, also, is the Moorish garden fireplace, a new style built by John Klann, the mantel man. The specially-built doors, the broad windows, the stippled woodwork, the old stone effect of the ceiling all engage the attention of a connoisseur of art.

The library blends with the parlor designs while to the right of the dining room there is a hall which appears to be chiseled out of stone. On that side of the house—the sunny side—will be found the bath and two bedrooms, the latter done in different tones of chrome with cream woodwork.

To the rear is a large patio with an English walnut tree growing in the center of the cement porch. In the kitchen, which is common in color, yet convenient and modern, there is a breakfast nook and large woodstone sink built in—and that completes but half a description for the gardens, the cellar, the street work and pergola are yet to be finished.

Offers Inspiration

But the Pelley home as it stands today, with its quarter sawed oak floors, the work of the Glendale Hardwood Flooring company, is something to inspire others and aid in the building of a more beautiful Sycamore canyon section of the city.

As for furniture, Mrs. Pelley states that after searching the stores of Glendale, Pasadena and Los Angeles, she found the most fitting suites right here at home while Mr. Schultz is designing several special pieces.

Scores of friends already have seen the place and the general public is invited to drive around and see something, not new, but unusual in the way of architecture and interior decoration that you will see in the art sections of the magazines 'ere long.

members will be hostesses to over 100 guests, presidents and officers of the various clubs in the Los Angeles district. On account of the large membership of the club, she stated, guest cards cannot be used for that meeting.

The program for reciprocity day is to be given by the members of the drama section, under the direction of the curator, Mrs. R. E. Chase, who is also district chairman of drama. The regular monthly birthday march was conducted yesterday, with over $5 being contributed by those whose birthdays occurred during the past month.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson and Mrs. G. H. Rowe urged the co-operation of the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club in providing lodging for the delegates to the state W. C. T. U. convention to be held in Glendale next week.

Margaret Riner Minor was then introduced and gave a very interesting program of impersonation, assisted at the piano by Mrs. H. M. House (Mildred Sanger). The numbers given included "When Ole Speaks," introducing a Swedish girl, who has not been in this country very long; "Mr. Mike O'Grady;" monologue, "At the Box Office," a very young person buying tickets at the box office, with interesting complications; "Aunt Jane Wiggins," who has lived on a farm all her life, and after having a visit to the "city" tells the good sisters at the missionary society about her visit; an Italian dialect, "The Italian's View on the Labor Question;" poem by Austin Dobson, "The Cap That Fits;" "The Old Apple Woman," by T. A. Daley; poem by Austin Dobson, "Good-Night, Babbette;" piano selection, "The Birdling" (Grieg), by Mrs. House; reading, "Myrtle Tea," a waitress at the Pinhook restaurant at Pinhook, Indiana; "The Italian Mother," dialect reading of an Italian mother pleading with the judge to release her little boy who has been arrested for fighting on the street; monologue, "At the Matinee;" pianologue, "Young America," and as an encore to the last number gave a story of a negro minister who had recently been released from the penitentiary.

School Floor Plans Given Consideration

Floor plans for the new high school plant were discussed in Los Angeles yesterday by Principal George U. Moyse, John C. Austin, Frederick M. Ashley and Edwin L. Westbery of George M. Lindsey's office, all of whom are architectural consultants engaged in the problem of planning the best possible high school for Glendale.

These plans will be submitted to members of the faculty for suggestions and to the heads of departments. Then they will be approved by the high school board of trustees.

Mr. Moyse is very much pleased with the progress being made with the work. He stated that Mr. Austin was anxious to get the more difficult floor plans arranged first. The three buildings being considered are the practical arts building, the science building and the administration building.

TIED DOWN TO WORK

Perhaps there is no more prosaic enterprise than a commercial laundry. But, when we see the hundreds of women of this town, fresh and cool on wash days during this hot weather, we are proud to know that we are responsible for their comfort and leisure.

Don't be bound down to such household drudgery unnecessarily. If there were no laundry to relieve you efficiently and reasonably, there might be some virtue in it.

But with us ready to call for and deliver your things in perfect condition there is no reason for it.

SCHOOL TEACHERS SLAUGHTERED BY VISITING TEAM

Alas! Also Alack! Likewise Pish! Yes, and Even Tush! Locals Are Walloped!

By O. U. FOWL

After two futile attempts on the baseball diamond, the members of the faculty of the Glendale high school have finally come to the conclusion that as performers of the national pastime they comprise a great group of teachers. Yesterday's scheduled contest with the faculty squad of the Pasadena high school proved to be a misnomer, the word "farce" being a far better and more appropriate description of the fiasco.

The final score of 17 to 1 sounds more like the result of a lopsided basketball game than a baseball game.

Following the "set-to" the Crown City players were unanimous in their apology for scoring such a "small run total," their principal alibi being that they had not had an opportunity for sufficient marathon practice. Had their wind been a little stronger they assert that they would have easily traversed the paths for two or three additional runs.

The game was replete with errors and base hits, particularly the former. To be exact it was afterward found that the Black and Red players were credited with eighteen misplays, which is an average of two to each player.

Hey, Hayhurst! Look!

N. C. Hayhurst former baseball coach of the high school team, took a fling at the art of hurling. It is believed that he established a record, numerically, at least, during the two innings in which he suffered.

In this short space of time Hayhurst showed rare skill by gracefully retiring the side after eleven runs had been scored. "Speedball" Smith, the locals' reserve "ace," pitched the remaining four innings, holding the Pasadenans down to a measly half dozen markers.

Following are the lineups:

Link Home Robbed

I. D. Link of 1085 Holbrook avenue, Eagle Rock, reported to the Glendale police last night that sneak thieves had ransacked his home yesterday and stole valuable silverware and fifty phonograph records. Eagle Rock and Los Angeles officers are co-operating in the search for the missing goods.

A. Truitt of 308 East California street called the police last night to investigate his vicinity as he had scared away a prowler endeavoring to break into his home. Officer Kearns investigated.

Bad check passers, stray dogs and stolen bicycles are providing other excitement for the police force.

CHAPLIN BIG HIT IN 'PAY DAY' AT T. D. & L.

'Bonnie Brier Bush,' With Donald Crisp, Feature On Same Program

There is only one complaint to make about "Pay Day," the latest Charles Chaplin picture which opened a run yesterday at the T. D. & L. theatre. Its two reels should be ten.

There is only one Chaplin. Anyone doubting it need only see "Pay Day." It hasn't a plot like "The Kid." It isn't supposed to; but it's just as funny. Even a sphinx would break into a coy giggle if it could see Charles hanging on to a long chain of sausages, nonchalantly reading his Evening Gazette under the impression that he is swinging along on a crowded street car.

Paramount Feature Also

One of the best pictures made by Paramount is being shown with success at the T. D. & L. It is "The Bonnie Brier Bush," a picturization of the Rev. John Watson's famous novel, "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." The production is in every respect a triumph of the cinematographic art.

It is needless to tell the story which is familiar to every reader. It is one of general appeal and in its picturized form, there is little lacking to make it one of the most interesting themes ever developed on the screen. Donald Crisp, who produced the picture, also plays the dominant part of Lachlan Campbell, the Puritan-minded shepherd deacon whose sternness of character all but wrecks the lives of his daughter and himself.

Suburban Realty Company Housed In Unique Office

The Suburban Realty Company, Inc., has now moved into its new office at 508 South Brand boulevard and is receiving the congratulations of its friends upon the attractiveness of its new establishment.

Partners in this new firm are: Alfred R. Johnson of 1007 Virginia Place, formerly manager of the Belvedere tract office for the Janss Investment Company of Los Angeles, and H. J. Blackmore of 233 South Orange street, who has been a salesman for the local Ford agency for the past year but formerly was in a real estate office in San Diego.

The new tile-stucco office with its color scheme of light green and buff is very striking in appearance. It is approached by a pavement of red cement. This same material has been used for a low porch across the front of the building. The front is distinguished by four fluted posts striped with green and white. The two front windows are shaded with awnings striped with buff and green and held in position to short wooden spears. Under each window is a wooden flower box, also painted green. The design of the office follows Spanish architecture.

The interior finish is buff plaster with French gray woodwork. The floor is covered with red inlaid linoleum.

The firm's coat of arms consists of an oddly shaped shield. This is to be noticed in the shape of the electric sign over the entrance and in the shape of the hanging signs at either side of the walk. It is also carried out in all the firm's advertising literature.

"Time to Buy" is the copyrighted slogan of the Suburban Realty Company. To emphasize it, a sundial has been placed on the walk directly in front of the entrance. This consists of a wooden pedestal of white surmounted by a brass marker. To add to the attractiveness of the premises, the entire lot, which has a frontage of 75 feet on Brand boulevard, has been seeded and a lawn is expected in due time.

'Sophs' Night Held By Christian Circle

The Christian Circle club met Tuesday evening, with ninety-three girls present. It was "Soph" night and lots of pep and enthusiasm was manifested. Yells and songs were lustily participated in by all.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church served the supper. Roll call by churches was taken, the Baptist church having the greatest number present. This was followed by the regular Bible lesson taught by Miss Soper. May 28 is birthday Sunday.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN
RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP

A RADIO PLUG

The plug shown in the illustration has some rather interesting features which make it well adapted to quick changes of telephone connections. There are a tip and a sleeve insulated from each other which make connection with the spring contact and a sleeve of a telephone jack. Connections within the plug are made from tip and sleeve to two chucks. The tips of a telephone cord may be inserted in the chucks and will be securely held. In fact, if the telephone cord is pulled after the tips have been inserted in the chucks they are gripped more tightly and cannot come loose. No solder is, of course, necessary.

The plug casing is of bakelite. At one end of the casing the bakelite is threaded inside so that it can be screwed into place. No screws are required for assembling. At the other end a hole is provided which accommodates the telephone cord. If the telephone cord has a tie cord it can be tied to the ring shown in the illustration.

Besides being used for telephone head receivers, these plugs may be used for loud speaker, leading coil, microphone transmitter and scores of other connections. They are made in two shapes, round and flat. The round type only is shown.

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Does the coil on a crystal set have to be insulated? —M. K. J., Glendale.

Answer: I always used to think that they did, but, strange as it may seem, I have seen a great many that absolutely no attempt whatever was made to insulate the coil, and the set worked perfectly.

Question: Why is it that I see so many four-wire aerials in the down-town district where there are no sending outfits, in face of the fact that a one-wire aerial is the advice of the authorities?—T. G. F., Eagle Rock.

Answer: The main reason lies in the fact that they do not have sufficient length on their property to erect a one-wire aerial of the proper length, and a four-wire aerial of shorter length does just as well.

Question: Please tell me why it is impossible to use regular Morse telegraph code in wireless, and why is it they have to use a wireless code?—W. G., Glendale.

Answer: Nothing to prevent you sending Morse over a wireless if you wanted to, but the regular wireless code has been adopted and has become in universal use mainly for the reason that it is hard to distinguish the space letter as obtain in the Morse code in wireless, so a code that contained no space letters was adopted.

Question: Please tell me if glass would work as well as Bakelite in a detector panel?—E. W., Glendale.

Answer: It would work just about as well if not better, but its big drawback would be that it would be extremely difficult to work with, that is, drill the necessary holes, etc.

Even Experts Are Puzzled by Radio

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

What is radio, anyway? That is a question that is being asked daily by a great many people, and, while there are many of us "experts" who are supposed to know all about it, I am going to let you in on a little secret now and tell you that while there are a great number of us who have some idea of the theory of radio, there is not a person in the world who really knows what it actually is!

You can go over to the library and read a dozen or more books on the general subject of radio. They discuss it in a highly technical, scientific way and you can pick up almost any magazine or newspaper and somewhere in it you will find some "expert" trying to tell you all about it. But, folks, there isn't anybody who really knows. While almost any school boy can go to work and make a wireless telephone receiver that will work perfectly, I understand that Marconi, himself, doesn't even claim to know the "why" of it.

Now, when you hear a wireless telephone in operation and the marvel of it appears so wonderful to you, there should be no occasion to think that you are not going to be able to enjoy the full benefits of radio for the reason that you believe you will never be able to understand it. Just bear in mind that thousands of people all over the country are enjoying it, and while there are a lot of "experts" running around loose there isn't a single one of us who has the faintest idea of what it truly is.

A man came to me the other day and said:

"Look here, I have a little crystal receiver about the size of a strawberry-box, nothing in it but 80 turns of fine copper wire wound on a cardboard spool, tapped at a number of places on the coil and connected up with a switch, a crystal detector, and a pair of head-phones, and it brings out very clearly everything broadcasted over in Los Angeles. Can you tell me why it does it?"

I frankly explained to this man that there is an electrical theory as to just why his set works, and that the library contains textbooks on the subject, and the high schools have been teaching it for quite some time, but that I, or nobody else, could actually explain the real reason of it. So don't bother lying awake nights trying to figure it out—because there simply isn't any reason at all!

RADIO EXPLAINED

FADING SIGNALS

At night when signals are being received from distant stations the phenomenom of "swinging" or "fading" signals is often very noticeable and equally annoying. The signals vary in intensity from time to time, sometimes irregularly. They even "fade" completely out at times and reappear suddenly with rapidly increasing intensity. This hardly ever occurs, however, when the station received from is within the normal daylight range of the receiving station.

During the summer of 1920 the phenomena of fading signals were very extensively investigated by a prominent amateur relay association co-operating with the Bureau of Standards of our Government. It was found that there appeared to be, roughly, three types of swing: First, a very rapid and abrupt kind, which sounded as though the sender had omitted a letter or two while sending in the regular radio-telegraph code. The length of the swing was from a half to five seconds. Second, a moderately rapid and more gradual type of swing, occupying a space of time from ten seconds to five minutes. This was the most usual occurrence. Third, a very slow swinging taking place during from five minutes to several hours. The phenomena are undoubtedly due to conditions of the atmosphere, at least in part. Probably large clouds, banks of fog and masses of fumes in and around the vicinity of large steel mills or smelters have something to do with the matter. At any rate, it seems plausible to blame the trouble on reflection and refraction of the radio waves. Light waves may be reflected and refracted, and it is not hard to imagine that radio waves may be also. Either reflection or refraction would bend the waves out of their original paths, and if the cause of either phenomenon is constantly changed it is easy to see that the phenomenon and its effects would also constantly change. Fading is not at all annoying and seldom noticeable on long waves of the order of 1,000 meters or longer. It is essentially a short wave phenomenon.

No well-defined connection was found, during the tests mentioned, between weather and transmission conditions. It may be possible, however, that there is some connection and that weather changes might somehow account for the longer swings of signal intensity. As has been said, fading does not occur at the normal transmitting range of a station to any great extent, and then only, usually, when transmitting conditions are very bad. At shorter than normal ranges swinging may occur if conditions are very bad, indeed.

Interrupted continuous waves or voice modulated waves do not appear to have any advantage over damped waves as far as fading and swinging are concerned. This may be noted by receiving stations which are considerably too far from a broadcasting station for daylight reception.

MOTOR AND RADIO SHOP GROWING WITH CITY
Local Owned Plant Gives Invaluable Electrical Engineering Service
The Glendale Motor and Radio Shop at 601 South Brand boulevard is a local firm owned and operated by Glendale people, which is working for a greater Glendale and growing with the city.
Their business is devoted to motors, motor repairing and the manufacture of radio parts and apparatus. However, the latter is but incidental as yet to the buying and selling of motors, their rewinding and general electrical engineering work.
All branches of the work are efficiently handled, including motor and generator troubles. The equipment and service are at your command. Among the many services rendered is repairing motors from the small fan or washing machine type to the big boys up to 100 horsepower rating.
Lots of Service
Testing, current input, h.p. ratings output, power factor, efficiency pull out, load, overload ratings and insulation inspection are other technical points covered by Messrs. S. L. Jackson and Herman E. Psenner, the proprietors.
To the auto driving public the Glendale Motor and Radio Shop offers special inducements for electrical repairs as they rebuild or rewind any type of automotive generator or starter and do this work in their own shop, said to be the only place in town where it is all done by local electricians.
Interest in Radio
Great interest is now being displayed in the radio department and daily concerts are being received at the shop. Many radio fans call on Mr. Jackson for both supplies and advice. The general public is invited to inspect their very complete workrooms in the Psenner-Doll Auto Electric service station, corner of Chestnut street and Brand boulevard.

Arrangements have been perfected by the Native Sons of the Golden West organization to bring to Oakland, Calif., the seven men who held the national amateur titles in the seven different divisions of boxing. The occasion will be the Far Western championships and the financing of the best the amateur ranks afford will give this two-day tournament an unusual importance. The bouts will be held during the early part of next month.

"Dad" Moulton, veteran trainer of the University of Stanford, believes that cold weather was responsible for the muscular disarrangement suffered by Morris Kirksey, the star sprinter of that institution. If "Dad" doesn't watch out for himself, he'll get in Dutch with the California climatic boosters. Looks as if the Cardinal conditioner had committed at least a social error.

Stanford university holds a series of regular inter-class swimming meets for the women. Practice and instruction are given under expert professional supervision. Regular training rules must be observed by all members of the various teams. The plan has brought to light the fact that a number of the fair mermaids are speed burners and are likely to be heard from at a later date. As a matter of fact, the wonder is that these co-educational institutions which have all the facilities for promoting athletics are not more often heard from as far as the women are concerned.

Under the new plan of extending the time for play from four to five days in the national open golf championships, the field at Skokie will be divided as nearly equal as possible into three sections. These sections will take turns in playing the thirty-six hole qualifyting test, the first section playing on Monday, July 10, and the other two on the two succeeding days. The best twenty-four cards in each section will qualify for championship play proper to be held Thursday and Friday over seventy-two holes.

It is more than likely that when the national open golf tournament is staged in July at Skokie, that California will be represented by the two professionals, Abe Espinosa and John Black. Three years ago Black and Espinosa played in the open at Braeburn. The Californians played wonderful golf for a week before the championship, actually defeating Brady and Francis Ouimot. By a strange turn of fate, when the day for the championship play rolled around, both men were sick abed, one from a dose of ptomaine poisoning, and the other as a result of being overcome by the heat and humidity. That they were not playing "possum" is best evidenced by the fact that Black's ailment reduced him twelve pounds in weight in a few days.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

There has been so much published about Jimmie O'Connell and his sale for $75,000 to McGraw, and so many flattering remarks made by this and that baseball authority that one has been led to believe O'Connell is perfection personified. Therefore, when a man who knows baseball from the inside to the outside comes out and says that in his opinion O'Connell is not just all that has been said of him it sort of makes you sit up and question.

Danny Long, one-time manager of the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast Baseball league, is the individual who does not think O'Connell is as good as he has been painted. The former Seal manager believes that Hal Chase is in a class by himself among the players produced in this far west, while Ty Cobb in the belief of Danny is the best of all of comers.

According to Long, O'Connell wants seasoning. He wants big league experience, but at the same time Long states that O'Connell is a "wonderful prospect." He hits them hard and has fine speed but does not begin to approach Hal Chase as an all-'round ball player."

"Chase was in a class by himself on the defensive," goes on Long. "Just how good a man is may be a matter of personal opinion along certain lines, though his averages show how good he is along other lines. O'Connell has not yet convinced me personally that he can field. Chase was a great hit-and-run man. I have yet to see O'Connell hit with his runners to any extent. Chase was a great base runner. O'Connell is improving on base running, but he cannot get his jump properly at this time and he will never be able to steal as many bases as Chase cleanly until he does this.

"Intuition is one of the greatest assets a baseball player has in his make-up. Chase was remarkable in this respect, O'Connell seldom calls the turn. A player to be in the Chase or Cobb class or others of the great stars past or present must have intuition and so far O'Connell has not shown much of this "inside" premonition that is so necessary in a star's make-up.

"And, finally, in my opinion, O'Connell can't throw. I doubt if he will ever have a good arm, at least not one that will compare with Chase's. Hal had a wonderful arm and his throws were fast and perfect."

This opinion of O'Connell is so different to any that has ever been given since the announcement of the record-breaking sale of the youngster that it makes one think. After all the flattering things said of O'Connell it takes a brave man to come out with an opinion to what has been expressed. If anyone should know a ballplayer, Long should. He generally knows whereof he speaks and when O'Connell does go up to the Majors and gets going it will be interesting to see if he improves along the lines pointed out by Long.

THE DUMBBELL'S DITTY

In hectic spurts the battle raged,
The youth enjoyed a peaceful nap.
He knew that he would not be paged,
He thought his boss an awful sap.

In distant bull pen, lounging there,
He longed for action, stark and grim.
In fancy now, his vacant stare,
Saw countless thousands cheering him.

He plucked a blade of grass and sat
There chewing one mean, nasty cud.
The matchless Speaker came to bat.
What was that dull and distant thud?

A base hit! 'Twas a torrid clout.
The young man raised a feeble sigh.
Then very quietly passed right out,
For something smote his downcast eye.

The eye was soft, the ball was not,
And neither was the boss's toe.
On yet another outfield plot,
The lad awoke in Quantico.

Some days ago a fan dropped dead when Ty Cobb hit a homer with two on, but, medical opinion to the contrary, it seems hardly credible that the gentleman's demise was brought about by shock. The spectacle of Cobb hitting a homer with two on ceased to be shocking along about the fall of 1907.

HEAVYWEIGHT LOWDOWN

The following is offered for what it may be worth in clearing up the heavyweight situation, featuring Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard, Harry Wills and others.

Dempsey, according to one report, is to meet Willard at Michigan City, Ind., on Labor Day, with Floyd Fitzsimmons as promoter. According to another story Willard and Dempsey are to fight for the eminent Mr. Rickard in Jersey City on the same date.

Confusing? Not at all. Willard is tied up to Rickard as tight as a miser's purse strings. Unless he has changed his mind he will fight for Rickard or no one. So much for Willard.

On the other and remaining hand, Kearns and Rickard are like thumb and forefinger, that close. And Kearns was the unseen agent who used Fitzsimmons as a blind to promote the Dempsey-Miske fight in Benton Harbor. If Kearns is still behind Fitzsimmons, and Rickard wants the Willard thing for Jersey City, to Jersey City it will go.

This is all contingent, however, upon Willard's ability and willingness to re-enter the ring. On this score we are prone to belive that the prize ring will never see Jess Willard's huge hulk again.

That being the case, Dempsey's only real rival, Harry Wills, will be the man to face him at Boyle's Thirty Acres, probably on Labor Day.

A rolling stone may gather no moss, but it supplies an excellent alibi for the five-thumbed infielder.

NEW YORK HANDICAP

Impartial baseball men will readily agree that another world's series between the Giants and the Yankees would be about as interesting as a bill of lading. Further than that, it would be a bad thing for baseball, financially and otherwise, for it would kill interest in that fertile pasture known as the West and provide a first-class foundation for the charge that New York ball clubs buy pennants outright.

However, any gambler will tell you that the odds are against both teams repeating. It wasn't done by the two Chicago clubs following the 1906 series. But if odds and precedent are not enough, turn your kind attention to the groups of temperamental gents assembled under the banners of Messrs. McGraw and Huggins.

If they can repeat with those outfits they should try conclusions with the bank at Monte Carlo.

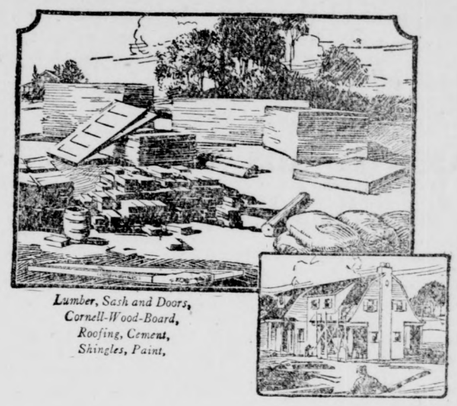
by getting materials that endure



Lumber, Sash and Doors, Cornell-Wood-Board, Roofing, Cement, Shingles, Paint.

How lumber prices have dropped since 1920!

In 1920, $300 would only buy about 1000 feet of clear oak flooring. Today the same money will get all of the following materials, if purchased from us:

1000 ft. clear oak flooring
500 ft. Cornell-Wood-Board
1000 ft. No. 1 Dimension
6 sacks cement
2000 ex 6-2 shingles
5 square Pioneer roofing
1000 ft. red paper
1—5X panel door
1000 ft. Sheathing
1 front door
1000 ft. R. W. Siding

Come here and we'll prove that this is the best time in several years to build! If you are willing to take expert advice you'll buy now. All indications are that building material prices are more apt to advance than decline.

Phone us or call—we'll consider it a pleasure to furnish estimates on any quantity from a single panel of Cornell-Wood-Board up to the largest building contract.

Three Ways
in which best paint saves you money

WHEN you figure the comparative cost of painting, figure it on a five to ten-year basis. Don't be influenced by first cost alone.

In the first place, it's the cost of the "paint on the house" and not merely the cost per gallon that counts.

The best paint is really the most economical in this regard. It spreads easily, saving labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

In the second place, you want the paint to last. The best paint serves many years longer than "cheap" paint. Therefore the best paint costs less on a "per year" basis, too.

The reason for the economy of the best paint lies in the fact that it is scientific in formula and preparation.

We've made the best paints for 73 years. The materials are the finest. For example, the white lead we use—PIONEER WHITE LEAD—is super-purified and ground so fine that it will pass through a silk screen with 30,000 meshes to the square inch.

So with the other materials—pure linseed oil, pure zinc, and pure colors—all finest quality, combined in Fuller's House Paints in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.

By using such paint whenever your house needs it, you prevent decay and thus find real economy.

Free Advice on Painting

Ask our agent for advice, color cards, etc.

Ask the Fuller Specification Department about the most desirable color schemes, color harmony and any other details.

Drivers, Beware of Booze
Save Priceless War Records
Grain Sales to Be Probed
More About City Zoning

By Gil A. Cowan

In the course of one day two cases came up in local courts where motorists, under the influence of liquor, smashed others' automobiles.

Now, that is a serious situation and the fact that such law-breakers escape lightly is no reason for anyone who takes a few drinks of treacherous bootleg brew to expect leniency.

It is not the danger of losing their own lives, but the fact that innocent bystanders, perfectly sober drivers and others are the ones who usually suffer.

You can imagine the difficulty of driving through the city streets without having some irresponsible person slam into your machine and wreck it.

Yet every bit of mercy can be displayed toward a law-abiding citizen who accidentally crashes into another car, for the element of fate enters into the case.

For the third time in three weeks the roof of the United States treasury building at Washington has caught fire. Beyond a reasonable doubt some congressman will suspect arson and have a searching investigation ordered.

If it were a quartermaster's warehouse there would be no doubt about it, but nobody suspects that the government has money to burn. It does, however, call attention to the fact that priceless historical records are stored in unsafe buildings at the capital.

Wonder if the congressmen couldn't vote a few thousands for fireproof vaults to store the tons of documents pertaining to the wars, etc. It is said that the Declaration of Independence is stored in a small safe that would last about 20 minutes in a hot blaze.

The next investigation on the senate's calendar comes from the federal trade commission which reports there are swollen profits made by grain exporters and that American trade is practically controlled by foreign-owned companies. That is interesting. May we hear more of it.

Here is another idea on zoning which The Glendale Evening News has been requested to publish:

Someone has asked, "Does your city keep its gas range in the parlor and its piano in the kitchen?" That is what many an American city permits its household to do for it.

We know what to think of a household in which an undisciplined daughter makes fudge in the parlor, in which her sister leaves soiled clothes soaking in the bathtub, while father throws his muddy shoes on the stairs, and little Johnny makes beautiful mud-pies on the front steps.

Yet many American cities do the same sort of thing when they allow stores to crowd in at random among private dwellings, and factories and public garages to come elbowing in among neat retail stores or well-kept apartment houses. Cities do no better when they allow office buildings so tall and bulky and so closely crowded that the lower floors not only become too dark and unsatisfactory for human use but, for that very reason, fail to earn a fair cash return to the individual investors.

It is this stupid, wasteful jumble which zoning will prevent and gradually correct. We must remember, however, that while zoning is a very important part of city building, it should go hand in hand with planning streets and providing for parks and playgrounds, and other essential features of a well-equipped city. Alone it is no universal panacea for all municipal ills, but as part of a larger program it pays the city and the citizens a quicker return than any other form of civic improvement.

Such a sea of houses as one sees from a promontory in Griffith park which overlooks Glendale.

Unseen you look across the city of homes with its green and red and black and slate roofs glistening in the sun and you can hardly realize that fifteen years ago it was nothing but a wheat field here.

And Griffith park was nothing but a useless hillside of Griffith's ranch. Time does work wonders in a few short years.

A reciprocal effect is gained by going to the top floor of Pendroy's department store and there looking out upon Griffith park with its splotches of green, or glimpsing over toward the Ivanhoe hills with Silver lake gleaming through the pass in the hills.

You are looking over the roofs now and into the natural settings of the Jewel City, the latter sparkling in the sun with green gold all around.

And you cannot help being enthused about it all. In such a lovely spot you would like to retire to a knoll top where from a glass house you could peacefully watch the parade pass by.

Bullock's Dairy Open To Visitors

W. P. Bullock, who conducts the Verdugo ranch, boasts of one of the finest dairy equipments in Glendale. A visit to the ranch in North Verdugo road yesterday showed that it was a sanitary, modern, well-kept place where the employes are glad to show visitors around. The raw milk which they serve a large clientele made the highest score in recent health department tests.

TALKS ON MERITS OF INDUSTRIES IN GLENDALE

C. D. Gulick Speaks at C. of C. Luncheon About Bringing Concern to City

After the committee, headed by R. F. Kitterman, named by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to co-operate in bringing the Power Implement Machine company and allied industries to this city, had been discharged, with thanks, by the board of directors yesterday, C. D. Gulick, municipal transportation expert, who has just returned from the east, spoke on the merits of these industries.

Mr. Gulick informed those present that he had occasion, in years past, to observe the work of both Messrs. Ferlin and Schnerr, the principals in the Modesto and San Francisco plants, and he could vouch for their ability to build successful industries here. He outlined the work already being done by them and gave a glimpse as to the possibilities.

It was Mr. Gulick's belief that these two plants and a third from San Bernardino could be co-ordinated under more favorable circumstances than first outlined and their proposition resubmitted to the Chamber of Commerce Industrial committee. With that statement, the subject was dropped and the directors turned to other business.

Picture Proposition

J. K. Edmonds of Los Angeles addressed the board on a motion picture proposition which was referred to the advertising committee, while the matter of a California Mayors' Employment conference was referred to the civic committee.

Correspondence, including a letter from Hugh Gibson, general secretary of the Council for Religious Education at Los Angeles, objecting to Governor William D. Stephens appearing here on the big night of the County Sunday School convention, was filed.

Secretary James M. Rhoades was instructed to get awnings for the west front windows of the Chamber of Commerce which will cost $67.65.

Noted Old Play Is Now Shown on Screen

Arrow Film corporation presents the photoplay, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" at the Glendale theatre with large audiences in attendance. It continues as the bill today and tomorrow. Old-timers who knew and loved the play will again have the opportunity of seeing their favorites play the roles that have brought laughter and tears to the eyes of millions of theatregoers throughout the world. And those youngsters who have never seen the play will be swayed, as were their parents, by the story that can never grow old. Love, hate, joy and sorrow are all there, as well as thrilling action that will satisfy the most rabid movie fan.

It is the story that is particularly well suited to the screen and it is said that the producers have not overlooked any point that would add to the interest in this production. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" took almost a year to make and cost an enormous amount of money. Buildings were built only to be burned to the ground. Vast numbers of people were employed in the making and the "big" scene, that of the log drive on the river, alone took several weeks to film and cost a young fortune.

Numbers Replace House Colors As Identifying Mark

No longer will La Crescenta folks direct you to "the "yellow house, third street from the right," etc., for an official map has been made of the foothill residential section and numbers assigned each house.

Already enterprising subdividers have labeled the streets with name posts and C. M. Mallory of Honolulu avenue made the job complete while taking a census in giving each a number, according to the location of the lot.

This is a distinct service which will be appreciated by business firms making deliveries in that vicinity.

LA CRESCENTA HAS 1400 POPULATION CENSUS SHOWS

This Figure Includes Montrose Vicinity Where Real Estate Is Active

Completion of a census of La Crescenta and Montrose shows that 1400 people now live in those vicinities adjacent to Glendale, according to C. M. Mallory, who is issuing a directory for business establishments making deliveries in the foothills.

Ten years ago there were about fourteen families in that district and only nine years ago was the townsite of Montrose opened about this time of the year. The growth of these foothill communities is most rapid at this time.

Houses Being Built.

There are eight new houses now being built in Montrose, according to Fred Anderson, prominent real estate agent. Among the new subdivisions being marketed there are La Crescenta Heights and Oak Grove Park. The latter was opened for sale Sunday and thirty lots sold.

George Anderson, a Glendale contractor, purchased eight of the lots and will build on them with the idea of selling, it is stated.

For Women's Club Fund.

The La Crescenta Women's club is holding a bridge tea Thursday afternoon at Cuddledoon, the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas for the benefit of the building fund. They already have an acre clubhouse site donated by the owners of the Glendale & Montrose railroad at the corner of Los Angeles and Piedmont avenues. The seventy-five members of the organization hope to be in their new home in another year.

Eugene Killion of 819 South Mariposa street, Glendale, is the manager of the Howard grocery at Montrose for C. J. Reinhard, who recently bought the business.

Dempsey Says All Fight Details Decided

NEW YORK, May 17. — Jack Dempsey has announced in a wireless despatch that all details for his return fight with Georges Carpentier had been settled. Dempsey said his end of the purse would be 100,000 pounds and that the bout would be held in London, June, 1923. Dempsey also revealed that his manager, Jack Kearns, had received an offer of $500,000 by wireless from South American sportsmen for him to fight Luis Firpo.
